

CVDOG, as the name suggests, this company gets everything at one place for your recruitment via email. Cvdog sole objective is to free companies from using excel/email and adept them for agile, robust and intuitive Applicant Tracking System that is the need-of-hour for every HR vertical. Now let us see what they can contribute to the organizations:

1. Navigating from one resume to other while accessing multiple resumes.
2. Dashboard which shows all the details from CV under multiple tabs like, Contact, Personal, Experience, Qualification, Skills, Social and many other.
3. Able to filter resumes in various sub-heads like Application date, Experience, CTC etc which makes finding eligible candidate easier.

Challenge

Every company has a different technological model and accordingly they prefer to choose solutions. No company wishes to conflict or alter their established set up. So a well defined uniform solution can sense the changing business environment with its streamlined approach and simplify stuff for the recruiters.

For CVDog, task of sorting out right candidate, storing-managing resumes and running doable searches itself was a time-consuming task. Moreover simplifying technical engagements for any company involves huge costs. An apt answer to this was Rchilli, not exactly but yes it provided the tool (Resume Parser) which fulfilled all desired tasks of an integrated HRIS. This led new customers to CVDog who is now on a streak to make difference in HR community.

Rchilli Contribution

1. Cloud-based application keeps your data secure and makes technology accessible to companies of all fits via cost effective pricing. It means no more tears.
2. Resumes are picked straight from recruiter's desktop or database, processed or read by your team on real-time basis finally improves the response time by a record margin.
3. Easy-to-use, intuitive and agile in delivering output.
4. Better user-adoptions by all Companies.

CVDog has all you need, under one roof
